In the late Middle Ages, the overwhelming majority of poetry was written in Latin, and therefore accessible only to affluent and educated audiences. In De vulgari eloquentia/On Eloquence in the Vernacular, however, Dante defended use of the vernacular in literature. He himself would even write in the Tuscan dialect for works such as The New Life (1295) and the aforementioned Divine Comedy; this choice, although highly unorthodox, set a hugely important precedent that later Italian writers such as Petrarch and Boccaccio would follow. As a result, Dante played an instrumental role in establishing the national language of Italy.

"Midway upon the journey of our life
I found myself within a forest dark,
For the straightforward pathway had been lost."
-Inferno Canto I

Inferno (Italian for "Hell") is the first part of Dante Alighieri's 14th-century epic poem Divine Comedy. It is followed by Purgatorio and Paradiso. It is an allegory telling of the journey of Dante through Hell, guided by the Roman poet Virgil. In the poem, Hell is depicted as nine circles of suffering located within the Earth. Allegorically, the Divine Comedy represents the journey of the soul toward God, with the Inferno describing the recognition and rejection of sin.

Durante degli Alighieri, simply called Dante (c. 1265–1321), was a major Italian poet of the late Middle Ages. His Divine Comedy, originally called Comedia (modern Italian: Commedia) and later christened Divina by Boccaccio, is widely considered the greatest literary work composed in the Italian language and a masterpiece of world literature.

Burn My Dread (full)

Album: Burn My Dread -Reincarnation:
Persona 3-
Composer: Shoji Meguro
Vocals: Yumi Kawamura

Dreamless dorm - Ticking clock,
I walk away -
from the soundless room Windless night -
Moonlight melts,
My ghostly shadow -
to the lukewarm gloom
Nightly dance...
of bleeding swords...
Reminds me that...
I still live...

I will
(Burn my dread)
I once ran away from the god of fear And he
chained me to despair
(Burn my dread)
I will break the chain and run
till I see the sunlight again
I'll lift my face
and run to the sunlight

Voiceless town,
tapping foot,
I clench my fist,
In pockets tight...

Far in mist a tower waits... Like a merciless tomb, devouring moonlight...

Clockwork maze -
End unknown,
In frozen time -
A staircase stands
Shadows crawl -
on bloodstained floor,
I rush straight ahead -
with a sword in hands
Cold touch of...
My trembling gun...
I close my eyes...
To hear you breathe...
(Burn my dread x2)

I will
(Burn my dread)
This time I'll grapple down that god of fear
And throw him into hell's fire
(Burn my dread)
I will shrug the pain and run
till I see the sunlight again
Oh, I will run...
burning all regret and dread...
And I will face the sun -
with pride of the living...

GALVESTON AND THE FUTURE

Cue the Laugh Track: Team Comedy Wins!

Securing 51% of the wins in both Solo and Team Turf War battles, squid kids on Team Comedy didn't have to rely on their popularity vote loss at all. Congrats Team Comedy!

This weekend saw not only the first Splatfest of 2018 take place, but also the first global Splatfest in some time. Players worldwide battled it out on Nintendo's arena-shooter Splatoon 2, in a fight which saw Pearl's love of the Action genre take on Marina's penchant for Comedy.

After a day of colourful carnage, Action cleanly won the vote, taking 58% of the public poll. Comedy, however, pulled itself back into the game in both Solo and Team play, scoring a narrow 51% in both modes. Thus, Comedy takes the final victory 2 - 1. I guess the power of laughter should never be underestimated, even when compared to an uzi-wielding Chuck Norris' flick.

Marina is probably pretty damn stoked to win the first Splatfest of 2018. Perhaps this could be a reversal of fortunes for the funky octopus, who came in second place to Pearl over the cumulative course of 2017. It will be interesting to see whether she builds momentum over the coming months, or whether her adorable gremlin buddy will maintain dominance.

CUPHEAD: A RUBBERHOSE HELLISH MASTERPIECE

Macarons As Performance Art

PERFORMANCE PASTRIES
Macaron fans around the world, rejoice! Art giant Marina Abramović has just introduced her very own version of the French delight.

For her latest work, performance artist Marina Abramović addresses literal consumption: Ladurée is now selling macarons designed to taste like the Yugoslavian artist.

Marina Abramović worked together with Ladurée and Kreemart - a design studio based in New York that employs sugar as its chief medium - to create a set of macarons. The cookies are made from an almond paste meringue just like any macaron, but they are then dyed Prussian blue, painted with edible gold leaf, and stamped with the Abramović coat of arms. Each box, consisting of three cookies and costs about 85 euros, or around $100 usd. Like translating a memory into a taste, Abramović says that the sweets taste like the time spent making coffee in the morning with her grandmother. "The Flavor is so unique that it can't be adulterated with any preexisting notion of taste," the Paris Review writes mysteriously. Arnet notes that the color of the sweets will leave a guilty stain on the tongue. In the Taste of Marina Abramović is available at Harrod's in London; 250 sets were put on display today at Ladurée Paris and were reported to have sold out within the first hours of the day. No news regarding a second wave of macarons.

Perfectly Parfait

Originating from the French word for perfect, this tasty treat is made by boiling cream, egg, sugar and syrup to create a custard-like puree which is not necessarily served in a parfait glass. The American version includes more ingredients like granola, nuts, yogurt, liquors and gelatin desserts made in combination with a topping of fruits or whipped cream that are layered and served in a tall glass. The oldest known recipe dates back to 1894.

Recipe Corner

Pear and Raspberry Galette

This Recipe is:
Dairy Free | No Refined Sugars | Soy Free | Vegan

If you are a hardcore pastry lover, then this vegan pear and raspberry galette is for you. It has the pastry, the fruit and the ice cream BUT it's a whole lot easier and way less fiddly to make than pies or even tarts. A galette is the most simple version of a pie, which means it is fuss-free!

Spiced Apple and Almond Butter Blondies

This Recipe is:
Dairy Free | No Refined Sugars | Vegan

Another winner of a dairy-free, vegan, gluten-free, and no refined sugar autumnal treat! These blondies are seasonal, and easier to make than your average apple pie, and even richer, too. Bring these to your holiday table for a new take on apple desserts.
